SN SCHOOL NUTRITION
The Official Publication of the School Nutrition Association MAR'17

DO YOU DELIVER?

Getting Meals to Kids Who Won't Come to the Cafeteria

GOING BANANAS!

ROAMING RUBY COMES HOME

SCHOOLS AS NUTRITION HUBS

Contents | March 2017 | Vol. 71 | No. 3

Published by the School Nutrition Association | www.schoolnutrition.org

FEATURES

22 Ruby Reader: Globe-trotter Extraordinaire!
Ruby's journey to Japan

26 Do You Deliver?
Getting meals to kids who won't come to the cafeteria

28 Set Your Breakfast Program Up to Go-Go-Go Model!
By Christine Ulcuane
What happens when breakfast becomes part of the conference call agenda?

38 Pushing All the Buttons
By Patrick Wiles
Vending machines offer convenient access to reimbursable meals.

48 Schools as Nutrition Hubs
By Kristine Cottrell, RD
Are we asking full advantage of the USDA's community eligibility to reduce childhood hunger in your community?

56 Imagine That!
An inspiring, creativity-filled, multi-week school cafeteria extravaganza can set the stage for a successful March. 2017 School Nutrition Industry Showcase

JOIN IN ONLINE
We've got even more details, resources and best practice ideas to share with you online. Check it out this month's Bonus Web Content.
Read this issue online, share articles, link directly to web resources, and more with the digital edition. Access the digital edition at www.schoolnutritionmagazine.com
Tell us what you think, ask questions or suggest ideas! Drop us a line at sn@schoolnutrition.org

FOOD FOCUS

62 Who's Top Banana?
Bananas are the most popular fresh fruit in America and one of the most versatile crowd-pleasers. Could bananas inspire you?

BROCCO!
Broccoli, a cruciferous vegetable packed with nutrients, is a star in today's cafeteria. Broaden sprouts, bulk chop and cabbage, among others.

TO YOUR CREDIT

79 Vote: Minerals and Vitamins
By Clara Hoover, MS, RD
Learn the fundamentals of micro-nutrients and how they affect the body.

DEPARTMENTS

4 First Bites
6 President's Perspective
8 Advocacy in Action
10 What's Cooking
12 What's Cooking @ USA
20 My Leadership Journey
60 Things We Love
70 On the Grow
74 This Is The Plate
88 Ad Index
88 A La Carte

Pushing All the Buttons

Vending machines offer convenient access to reimbursable meals.

BY PATRICK WHITE

Like worms for bait (in fishing hotspots everywhere). Beer and liquor (fairly commonplace in Japan). Gold (maybe not surprisingly, in the Klondike). Medical marijuana (being tried in several states in the U.S. work). A bicycle (in the Netherlands). Clothes (especially, selected using a joystick-controlled claw). Apples (from New York; grow gods for that). And, as of this past January, McDonald's Big Macs (rolled out in Boston).

If you're looking for a common theme for the peculiar list, it's this: Vending machines will dispense just about any accessorized-a-style burger, a number of U.S. school districts, you may be surprised to learn, included.

Yes, it's true: a few pioneering districts schools have done it for the better part of a decade. Others have followed suit, and about the topic is Denver Public Schools in 2010. Just more schools are getting onboard with vending, small, and those